Introduction:

Following the 2008 financial crisis, many governments worldwide turned to the private sector to finance and implement large-scale public projects through Public-Private Partnerships PPPs. The primary goal of these partnerships was to reduce initial costs. In addition to cost reduction, these partnerships led to improvements in infrastructure projects and public services.

This enabled governments to focus more on policy, planning, and regulation without worrying about operations and implementation procedures. At this Building and Developing Effective Public-Private Partnerships course, participants will gain comprehensive knowledge of Public-Private Partnerships PPPs and the methods and steps to establish partnerships that benefit both sectors.

Targeted groups:

- Managers and senior professionals.
- Those interested in designing and developing Public-Private Partnership PPP plans.
- Executives who wish to deepen their understanding of the benefits and risks of PPPs.
