Confidence & Humility

A Course of Leading with Excellence, Confidence & Humility

Introduction

The environment of current competitive business requires an increased focus on skills in negotiating and communication and new processes such as planning and organizing work tasks to improve productivity. Additional skills such as delegating to empower staff to higher performance and change management also help today's modern leader create success.

Negotiation is inevitably at the heart of every process to achieve what you want or need to build an alliance or work with consultants or suppliers. At the end of each negotiation, the goal is to seek a win-win agreement. Negotiation, Persuasion, and Critical Thinking are the skills covered in the first half of this course.

Businesses, and indeed, all organizations, need more productive methods of planning, more appropriate goals, and effective means of accomplishing work. A focus on using productive best practices allows for effective and efficient management of work and making changes in the organization. Planning and Organizing Work and Delegating to build a strong team are the skills learned in the second half of this course.

In this course on leading with excellence, confidence, and humility, you will learn about leadership for safety excellence, to lead with excellence, confidence, and humility, demonstrate leadership excellence, and objectives of leadership excellence.
