Contracts: Reading, Writing, and Negotiating Training Course

Introduction

Understanding contract law has become essential to conducting our daily business functions. Whether in purchasing, contract management, subcontracts, project management, general management, or sales, you are constantly involved with legal and contract principles, sometimes without even realizing it.

Too often, the wording used in contracts needs to be properly understood by those making decisions relating to those contracts. Non-specialists are reluctant to get involved in the process of drafting and amending the documents that are critical to their Company's success. There may also be problems in assessing amendments proposed by the other party and determining whether these are reasonable or are eroding your Company's position.
